

the east have transferred 100 men and horses to the Western railroad and these were rushed to the city of Pinar del Rio. Eleven cars were dropped at various points in Santa Clara, Matanzas and Havana provinces.

The insurgents, who are well armed, having much dynamite, Ex-Gov. Louis Perez, of Pinar del Rio province, is with the insurgents. A Catholic priest, San Juan Martinez, is out with the force, having great influence among Guerra's followers. Other insurgents surrounding Pinar del Rio are gradually drawing closer, expecting a junction today from Guanajay.

Several Sharp Skirmishes.

Colonel Avalos already has a smart brush with Guerra's men, in which several men were killed and wounded on both sides. It is hoped within a few days now the government will be strong enough to take the aggressive in Pinar del Rio and crush Guerra.

The report of fighting in Matanzas province is given credit.

Rural guards met near Colonia, while at Matanzas another combat took place. The last mentioned fight resulted in one rebel being killed and several wounded. Three distinct parties are reported by the rural guards in Matanzas province.

The news from Santiago is more reassuring. Up to this time so far as can be learned there has been little revolutionary sentiment developed there and no fighting is reported.

Police Search Havana.

The police are searching all houses in Havana for arms and ammunition, but with the police themselves involved in the conspiracy there is no safety felt. Captains Maso and Regueira have been thrown into prison.

The threatened cabinet crisis is believed to have been avoided owing to President Palma's desisting from his intention of placing Senor Montalvo in charge of an armed force as secretary of war.

The provincial council met to denounce the revolution, but the Liberals refused to assist, causing failure for lack of a quorum.

President Not Notified

By State Department
Of Cuban Revolution

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Notwithstanding the apparent seriousness of the trouble in Cuba the President has received no official communications on the matter from the State Department at Washington.

This, however, is not surprising and does not minimize the real gravity of the Cuban situation. The fact that Oyster Bay has not been drawn into the field of activity is simply carrying out the President's wish to have a real vacation and the trouble will have to reach an acute stage before the State Department will bother him with it.

A further explanation lies in the fact that the United States has no intention of rushing pell-mell into any comic opera revolution. Cuba will be left to fight out her own salvation unless American interests suffer sufficiently to cause them to appeal to this Government for aid.

The United States Government does not desire to be put in the light of seeking an opportunity to rush into Cuba and emphasize the need of annexation. It rather desires to convince the world that the little republic is able to stand alone. For that reason it will hold aloof as long as possible.

However, the situation is being closely watched.

CHICAGO BAKER
REBELLION CAUGHT

Said to Be Under Arrest
at Aguascalientes, Mexico.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 22.—Paul O. Stensland, fugitive bank robber, is said to be under arrest today at Aguascalientes, Mexico, and the police are in communication with the Mexican authorities to establish the identity of the prisoner.

A private message received here brought the first news of the arrest. A telegram was at once sent to Springfield to ascertain whether Governor Jensen had been notified of the arrest, and what action had been taken looking to the extradition of the fugitive.

Dividend to Depositors Friday.

It was learned that a telegram similar to the one sent to this city has been received by the governor, which is now in the hands of his secretary.

Payment by Receiver Fetzner of a dividend of 25 per cent on the bank deposits ordered by Judge Brentano, will begin at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Preparations for making the payments as expeditiously as possible have been completed by Mr. Fetzner, who will have to cope with a crowd that will be limited only by the number of the depositors, 22,000. He has arranged for an ample force of police to ward the expected crush.

All Given Equal Showing.

The man with $1 on deposit will be afforded the same opportunity to draw out 20 cents as the man with thousands. To avoid any appearance of favoritism, Mr. Fetzner has determined to pay the claims on the principle of first come, first served, and nothing to the 22,000 depositors accordingly will be mailed simultaneously. The last vouchers will have been paid by the noon tomorrow and in the afternoon the notices will be placed in the mail and will reach their destinations early Friday morning.

DIED.

CONGER—At his residence, 1744 Willard street, at 12 a. m., August 22, 1936, CHARLES G. CONGER, son of the late Major S. B. and Mary A. Conger, aged fifty-seven years.

Particulars will be found in another column. Notice of funeral hereafter.

BURTON—Suddenly, at Home, Va., on Monday, August 20, 1936, at 5:30 p. m., W. S. BURTON, beloved husband of Eliza E. Burton (nee Hayes).

FOLEY—On Tuesday, August 21, 1936, at 9:25 a. m., MARY FRANCES FOLEY, infant daughter of James D. and Mary Castell Foley, aged eight months.

JOHNSON—On Tuesday, August 21, 1936, at 2:30 p. m., Mrs. JACQUELINE J. JOHNSON, aged fifty-five years, at her home on the Condit road.

IN MEMORIAM.

GLORIUS—In loving remembrance of my dear boy, GEORGE E. GLORIUS, who passed away eleven years ago today, August 22, 1895.

Though lost to sight, his memory dear
Thou ever will remain;
His heart was true, his life was young;
Yet not our will, but God's he done;
Gone, but never will be forgotten.
—By His Loving Mother.

Wife's Longing For Stage Broke Up a Happy Home

So Says the Husband, But the Wife Declares Disagreement Sprang From His Cruel Treatment and Final Desertion.

"My wife is extravagant; she has aspirations and longings for the stage; her ambition is to become a chorus girl," says Carl Weber in answer to the suit of his wife, Justina D. Weber, for separate support and maintenance. The wife charged cruelty and desertion.

Weber, who filed his answer in the District Supreme Court, says his wife insisted on taking vocal lessons and indulging in other extravagances not consistent with her station in life. Although for some time after their marriage, in June, 1934, he received a very small salary he says he purchased a piano for his wife and did all he could for her. Nevertheless, on account of her aspirations for the stage, she did not conduct herself as she should, Mr.

Weber denies that he was cruel to his wife or that he deserted her. Mrs. Weber's story is very different. She says her husband not only left her, but took their child and went to his mother's home to reside. Before doing so he mortgaged their furniture and left her no means of support. Mrs. Weber also says her husband took from her and pawned her wedding ring and a breastpin he gave her at the time of their engagement. Weber now receives a salary of $1,000 a year.

Justice Stafford after hearing the petition and answer signed an order requiring Mr. Weber to pay his wife $20 a month pending a final settlement of the litigation. W. Gwynn Gardner appeared as counsel for Mrs. Weber and Leon Tobriner represented the defendant.

WIDOW BROWN OUT OF PRISON

Head of "Love Syndicate" Gives Bond Furnished by Liveryman.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Miss Izella W. Brown, friend of Mrs. Blua Verrault and alleged head of the "love syndicate," after spending many hours in a cell at the Mercer street police station on a charge of grand larceny, preferred by Abdulla Habeeb, a Syrian dealer in fakes, was released today.

The bail for Mrs. Brown was not obtained until after midnight.

Generally in cases of grand larceny bail in the sum of $1,000 or more is required. Magistrate Crane, however, accepted $500 bail for Mrs. Brown. The bondsman was Patrick J. Frawley, liveryman, of 78 Sixth avenue. He has the "night hawk" privileges at Jack's and other uptown restaurants.

An expected raid of deputy sheriffs on the headquarters of the "love syndicate," at 222 West Eighty-second street, where Mrs. Brown was arrested, did not take place. Mrs. Brown has a host of crooks down and seize everything when, at the last moment, they discovered that Mrs. Brown had almost nothing in her own name to attach.

BOOSTING, BOOMING GREATER WASHINGTON

is wholly informal. The constitution and bylaws will be considered and revised at tomorrow's meeting of the directors.

Another matter that awaits decision is the stand the association is to take as to bringing manufacturers into the District. At the time of the organization of the association, it was announced it would confine itself strictly to the increase of the jobbing and shipping trade of the city, but by the natural force of circumstances its functions and even its ambitions have been extended far beyond this original narrow field.

It is interesting now in the creation of a Greater Washington, by every fair means that can be devised. An overwhelming sentiment, developed by inquiries made by The Times, and favor of this new, vigorous and enthusiastic association taking charge of the fight to bring factories here.

Most Washingtonians believe the bringing of factories is more or less essential to any great increase in the prosperity of the city. The jobbers and shippers' association must decide whether it will be willing to take up this fight. If it is not, it is certain other agencies will be organized, either to co-operate with the committee of the Washington Board of Trade, or to act independently.

Commissioner Henry B. F. Macfarland, who returned recently to the city, sent in this morning his application for membership in the jobbers and shippers' association. He was accompanied by an expression of his interest in the movement and enthusiastic confidence in its ultimate success.

ILLINOIS INDORSSES BRIAN AND CANNON

Republicans Stand Pat on Tariff and Democrats on Roger Sullivan.

The expected happened in both State conventions—Republican and Democratic—in Illinois yesterday. The Democrats indorsed Bryan and the Republican convention indorsed Roosevelt, Cullom and Cannon, presenting the last named for President in 1936. Incidentally, the Republicans adopted a platform which kept to the middle of the road between the Cannon and the Cullom tariff positions.

On the tariff the Republican platform "favors tariff revision when changing business and industrial conditions shall make revision beneficial and when necessary for such change arises from a fair and candid consideration of the whole country."

Indorsement of Cannon.

There was great enthusiasm when Speaker Cannon was indorsed for the Presidential nomination. The resolution of the great responsibilities of the office of President of the United States, hoping for a continuation of the successful policies and wise administration of the Republican party, with full confidence in the experience, ability, mental equipment, and lofty patriotism of Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois, for the discharge of the great responsibilities, Illinois most strongly favors and recommends to her sister States and to the Republican national convention to be held in 1936 the nomination of Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois, to the high office of President of the United States.

Bryan Lost and Won.

William Jennings Bryan lost and won in the Democratic convention at Peoria; but he lost with more emphasis than he won. By a vote of 1,038 to 570 the convention tabled a resolution demanding the resignation of Roger Sullivan, of Chicago, as national committeeman. Mr. Bryan had called that he didn't care to be indorsed by the convention; but, under the easy and complete control of Sullivan, who had 500 of the 535 Cook county delegates, this was tabled.

In the State outside Chicago Bryan was defeated by a very narrow margin. Judge Owen Thompson, of Jacksonville, took the part of chief spokesman of Bryan, as he has throughout the Bryan-Sullivan controversy.

He presented the resolution to demand Sullivan's resignation, and made a bitter and hisses, two or three personal encounters on the convention floor providing interesting incidents.

KINGIRO MATSUKATA'S BODY LAID TO REST

The body of Kingiro Matsukata, the young Japanese cadet, who died of typhoid fever at the Naval Academy, Annapolis, Sunday, reached Washington at 1 o'clock this afternoon and was immediately conveyed to Rock Creek Cemetery for burial.

Members of the staff of the Japanese embassy, who are now in Washington were at the station to meet the body and acted as an escort to the cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Commander Taniguchi, naval attache of the embassy. The War Department ruled that the young midshipman could not be buried in the National Cemetery at Arlington, and it was decided to purchase a lot in Rock Creek.

Matsukata had been a student at the academy since last June, when he was entered according to an agreement made between this Government and Japan. He was nineteen years old, and was the son of a former minister of finance of Japan.

TYPHOID SITUATION SHOWING NO CHANGE

Little or no change in the typhoid fever situation has been noted in the last twenty-four hours. During this time, 7 new cases of the disease have been reported at the Health Department, the same number as yesterday. On August 22, 1936, 14 cases were reported, showing the daily record of cases for this year to be slightly lower than last.

The total number of cases reported since the first of the year has now reached 419, as compared with 371 during the corresponding period of last year. There were a total of 301 cases during July, a total of 201 cases, while on August 22, 1936, there were but 26 cases being treated. Eight recoveries have been reported within the last twenty-four hours, with one death.
